

SIEGEL DEPOSITORS WILL GET NO MORE FROM FAILED BANK

Claims of Boston Store Will Eat Up $58,000 Now on Hand.

WAR ON THE TRUSTEES.

Committee Claims Officials Have Not Been Zealous in Their Interests.

The 15,000 depositors in the defunct bank of Henry Siegel & Co. were told to-day by Referee Stanley W. Dexter that because of a $2,000,000 claim filed by the Boston Siegel stores against the bankrupt estates it was likely no further dividends would be doled out to them of the $58,000 now held by the trustees.

Following this announcement a stormy scene was enacted in the Federal court room when three of the leading depositors asked for two weeks' time in which to file charges against the three trustees in bankruptcy—John King, George L. Sanborn and William Henkel J. These trustees to-day filed their accounting with the referee, showing that only $5,985 has been received by them for the benefit of depositors.

The first to make a charge was Henry Latzer, whose wife, he said, died as the result of her loss in the bank. Latzer shouted that the trustees had done nothing in the interest of the depositors, that they had done much detrimental to their interests and he asked for their discharge. Looking squarely at Trustee Henkel, he asked the latter to resign. The trustee's retort was that he would resign for Latzer or any one else.

Latzer demanded to know what the trustees had done about Siegel's automobiles and his bonds. Mr. Henkel replied that no such property had been received and that hundreds of thousands of mining shares were worthless.

Mrs. Emmeline Baker, of the depositors' committee, asked what had become of the $70,000 worth of Greenhut Company bonds, which she understood were in the possession of Mrs. Blanche Vogel, widow of Siegel's partner.

Mr. Henkel said he had never heard of the bonds, but was willing to start an investigation that would turn up the bonds. Latzer again took the floor.

"What has happened to the 1,100 shares of stock in the National Bank of the Republic of Chicago held by Siegel," he asked, "and what have the trustees done with the $3,000,000 worth of Siegel Stores Corporation stock?"

"I only received 10 shares of the bank stock from the receiver," Mr. Henkel replied, "and if you want the 40,000 shares of Siegel Stores stock, you can have them for three cents." A. V. Harris of No. 45 Jay Street, Manhattan, and member of the depositors' committee, said that the charges against the trustees had been made only last Wednesday, and there had not been sufficient time to investigate. He asked for two weeks in which to verify the charges.

BAFF CASE RECALLED IN MANGAN ACQUITTAL

Tales of Intimidation Revived When Man Accused of Shooting Luke
Doyle Is Set Free.

Further evidence about the intimidation of witnesses which made it impossible to solve the mystery of the murder of Barnett Baff, the West Washington Market poultry dealer who was shot last November, came to light yesterday in connection with the acquittal of William J. Mangan, a delegate of the Teamsters' Union. Mangan was tried before Judge Wadhams in General Sessions on a charge of murdering Luke Doyle on March 10 last.

Doyle was regarded as one of the most important witnesses in the case, though he refused to give information the police believed he held. He was agent for a union which was a rival to the one to which Mangan belonged. Mangan's successful defense was based on the assertion that Doyle had threatened him and, on the day of the shooting, had attacked him in Washington Street.

Terence J. McManus, who defended Mangan, said that more than a dozen prospective witnesses can be seen at any of the World's Offices. ## 16,000 Carpenters End Strike in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 10.—The strike of 16,000 union carpenters which has paralyzed the building industry in Chicago, is over. Settlement on all points at issue was reached early to-day after committees representing the Building Construction Employers' Association and building material interests had been locked in conference since 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW!

How to Keep Well, Keep Strong and Keep a Perfect Figure, Told in a Series of Illustrated Lessons

Six Weeks' Course of Exercise and Diet for Women
Readers of The Evening World, Arranged by Pauline Furlong, Author of "Beauty Culture at Home."

To-Day's Illustrated Lesson Explains How Vigorous Exercise Feeds Needed Air to Lungs and Gives Simple Massage Movements to Knead Out Fat.

Because of her perfect physical proportions, Pauline Furlong has been named the "American Venus." She is the author of "Beauty Culture at Home," and is an authority on all questions of woman's physical well-being. She will give a course of lessons to the women readers of The Evening World this summer on "How to Make Yourself Well and Strong and Preserve Your Figure."

LESSON XI.

By Pauline Furlong.

To-day ends the first two weeks of our course in keeping well, keeping strong and keeping a perfect figure. Because I believe that more women are unhealthily stout than unhealthily thin I have begun the course by outlining remedial exercises and a rational regimen for the woman who is too fat.

On June 28 I asked you to cut out of The Evening World the measurement chart printed on that date, and with the aid of a tape measure and a pair of scales to set down on the chart your height, your weight, the circumference of your head, neck, chest, waist, hips, thighs, calf, ankle, upper arm, forearm and wrist.

DIET AND EXERCISE MUST BE FAITHFULLY CONTINUED.
To-day I want you to weigh and measure yourselves all over again, and to fill out on the chart the column left for these measurements, headed "July 10." Then compare this column with the one filled up on June 28.

If you have cut from your diet the fats and sweets on which I placed a taboo, if you have eaten one less meal a day and drunk little save buttermilk, orange juice or a mixture of lemon juice and water, if above everything else you have faithfully performed for at least ten or fifteen minutes EVERY DAY the exercises which I have recommended to you, I believe that you are likely to find a change for the better in your measurements even after the lapse of so brief a period.

But I am afraid this is what some of you have done: You exercised industriously for perhaps the first three days of the first week. Then a week ago last Thursday you felt tired and decided not to "bother" with the movements on that particular morning. Friday morning you overslept and again the exercises were deferred. Saturday night you were invited out to dinner, and you hadn't the moral courage to persist in your diet. Tuesday of this week the tennis poses interested you and you manifested to play a game. Again you missed two days, and yesterday you went to the movies and experimented with the wand and drills.

Now, on the evidence of the tape-measure and the scales, you are ready to condemn my treatment for "not having done a thing to you." If I may be slangy for a moment, YOU haven't done a thing to my treatment—except ruin any good effect it might have—if you have failed to persist in it with absolute, unflinching regularity. Reduction depends upon regularity to an almost unbelievable extent. Going without your lunch every day for a week is much more efficacious from the point of view of reduction than omitting all three meals on any one day of that week.

If you have FAITHFULLY worked at them I believe that this fortnight of lessons will show results with want of you. But even if this is not the case there is no reason why you should be discouraged.

WEEK CANNOT BANISH FLESH OF YEARS' ACCUMULATION.
I told you last week, and I repeat it: "The course of reduction is not adapted to quitters. But nothing in this world really worth while is got without hard work, and a perfect figure is no exception. Remember that you very likely have spent years in acquiring your surplus flesh, and that you cannot take it off in a single day or week. The woman who determines to follow the course that I offer, who backs up her determination with perseverance, and who is

To be most successful, however, it should be used in connection with more vigorous exercise and diet.

SIMPLE MASSAGE MOVEMENTS TO REDUCE DEPOSITS OF FAT.

To-day the pictures show you two simple massage movements that you can give yourself. Both are taken lying flat on the floor, or in bed. If you have an obese abdomen make the muscles as tense as possible and then, pressing upon them the palms of the hands, move the folds of fat backward and forward. The hands should be firm and should not be allowed to slip, since if you move them about you exercise only the skin.

In this fashion the abdominal muscles nearest the surface are exercised and deposits of fat over them are diminished. The same result may be obtained by pounding the alternately tensed and relaxed abdomen with the clenched fists. This exercise also tends to reduce the size of the hips. When you first take up these exercises do not perform them for more than five minutes at a time.

The third exercise is the most difficult you have had so far. It is a modification of the trunk twisting which I have already given you. Assume the normal standing position, then, without moving the feet, turn the upper part of the body as far as possible to the left, inhaling and raising the arms to a horizontal position as you do so. As you exhale, bend the body at the waist over the left leg. This is a waist-reducing movement, and it should not be repeated more than five times to the left and right, respectively. By practice, however, you should be able to perform it from thirty to fifty times in succession.

Readers of Miss Furlong's articles who are keeping measurement charts or otherwise following her lessons are invited to write to her, in care of The Evening World, asking any questions pertinent to the lessons or requesting information that will aid them in following her rules for diet and exercise.

SHOT FROM SUITCASE.

Baggage Man Wounded When Revolver in One Exploded.

The owner of a suitcase in the baggage room of the New York Central station in Yonkers is about to walk into a lot of trouble when he calls for his property because of a bullet wound in the calf of the left leg of Graham Pennell, the baggage-master. Pennell took the suitcase from a truck to-day and to the tender way peculiar to baggage handlers placed it on the floor.

Immediately there was a loud explosion. Pennell and others thought he had set off a bomb. When the suitcase was opened a .38-calibre revolver with one chamber empty was found therein.

SUICIDE IN CENTRAL PARK.

Man, Apparently a Derelict, Found Dead With Bullet in Head.

Patrolman Dowling found the body of a man on a bench in Central Park near Eighty-fourth Street and the West Drive at 8 o'clock to-day. There was a bullet hole in the man's head and a revolver was clamped in his right hand. He had been dead several hours.

The suicide was about fifty years old, poorly dressed and plainly one of the "down and out." He had removed all identification marks from his clothing and straw hat.

AIR LINE EXPRESS TO ALBANY COSTS $150 FOR VOYAGE

All Aboard for the Hydro-aeroplane to Capital—Leaves From Track 4.

With the departure for Albany to-morrow of the Hudson Navigation Company's steamer Rensselaer a Wright hydro-aeroplane will leave the hangars at the foot of West One Hundred and Thirty-second street and convey the steamer and her passengers up the Hudson. Anybody can go who has the price and you can go as far as you like. There's room for four.

Erwin A. Morse, general manager of the line, is going as a passenger and A. R. Gaines Jr., will be the pilot. It is expected that the trip will take 150 minutes and it will cost you a dollar a minute. Mr. Morse had never been up in the air until this morning. He went up with Pilot Gaines from the foot of One Hundred and Thirty-second Street. He didn't go up very high, but higher than he had ever been with nothing under him but the North River. The experience, he said, was salubrious. Not a breath of air was blowing and the machine worked very smoothly without a spill.

The hydro-aeroplane, on the way to Albany, will not go higher than twenty-five feet above the river, so if you should get a spill you can have all the sensations of a shot out of the blue and get nothing more than wet. The trip to Albany will cost $150, with a return ticket on the steamer.

RILEY SLATED TO QUIT; WHITMAN FOR OSBORNE

William A. Orr Expected to Succeed Present Prison Superintendent as Result of Row.

ALBANY, July 10.—Gov. Whitman intends to force John B. Riley, State Superintendent of Prisons, to end his fight on Warden Thomas Mott Osborne of Sing Sing, or to hand in his resignation, it was learned on good authority to-day. This attitude on the part of the Governor, it is believed here, will result in the ousting of Riley within the next week.

After a public attack which the Superintendent made on Osborne, Whitman visited Warden Osborne at Sing Sing. After a talk with Osborne it is believed the Governor concluded that Riley's attacks were not justified.

The Governor intends to demand from the Superintendent a reason for the assertions he made in his statement about the Sing Sing Warden and that he retract the charges. This, it is believed, will result in Riley's resignation.

William A. Orr, Whitman's private secretary, it is said, is slated as Riley's successor.

$10,000 Damages for Death.

Supreme Court Justice Goff to-day, on motion of attorneys for Louise Albrite, widow of Arthur J. Albrite, awarded a verdict of $10,000 damages for the death of the child during the construction of the Equitable Building by the falling of a steel girder. The motion of the Thompson-Starratt Company to set aside the verdict of $10,000.

Man's Body in North River.
The body of a man about forty-five years was found floating to-day in the North River, at Canal Street. He was 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighed 150 pounds, dark complexion, clean shaven, brown coat and trousers, black shoes and socks.

Mother's Fall Injures Baby.
Tillie Schwartz, eighteen months old, received concussion of the brain to-day when her mother, who was carrying her, fell on the stairway of the Second Avenue L. uptown station at Twenty-third Street. The baby was removed to Bellevue hospital.

SUICIDE OF HOLT PUT UP TO WARDEN BY SUPERVISORS

Nassau County Officials Meet to Consider Death of Morgan Assailant.

FIND STORIES CONFLICT.

Will Drop Further Action
Until Hults Returns From Vacation.

The Board of Supervisors of Nassau County held a special meeting to-day to take action on the suicide of Frank Holt last Tuesday night in the County Jail after he shot J. P. Morgan. The Supervisors have no direct authority over the warden or the sheriff, but they vote the appropriations that support the jail.

It seemed as if everybody in the county who could get away from home went to the courthouse at Mineola to learn what would be the outcome of the meeting. At least one hundred motor cars were clustered around the building and politicians of every shade were eagerly canvassing the chances of the warden, William Hults, who hurried away on an unannounced vacation on the day after the suicide.

The Supervisors are Philip J. Christ, James W. Cocks and Hiram R. Smith. Their first intention was to hold an investigation into every circumstance connected with the killing, but after calling in a body on District Attorney Lewis J. Smith, who had stopped the Coroner's inquest yesterday short of a conclusion, they determined to wait.

Sheriff Stephen B. Pettit left town on Monday to attend the Elks' convention at Los Angeles, Cal. This was after Holt's arrest but before his suicide. The District Attorney thinks Pettit ought to have a chance to clean his own house and therefore he did not call at the Inquest George Hoffman, the under keeper of the jail who was the first to respond to old Jerry Ryan's calls for help after the suicide. It is understood that Hoffman's story indicates certain inaccuracies in the tale told by Ryan, who is sixty-four years old and not very strong.

When the Board of Supervisors left the District Attorney's office they issued this statement:

"The Board of Supervisors at a conference with the District Attorney agree with the District Attorney that as to the custody of one Frank Holt, who committed suicide on July 8, 1910, the District Attorney is doing everything in his power to investigate and find out who is directly responsible for the act, and will lay the whole thing before the Sheriff on his return, and if the facts warrant further action will be taken and those responsible dealt with according to law."

"The Board is advised that Sheriff Pettit is temporarily absent from the county and will return in a few days. In view of the fact that heretofore the Sheriff has always co-operated with this Board in any improvement of conditions in this county, the Board feels confident that upon the Sheriff's return any recommendation the Board makes relating to a reform in the management of the jail will be taken up and acted upon effectively by him."

Many of the politicians interpreted the Supervisors' statement to mean trouble for Warden Hults. Ryan, although a Democrat, was kept in his job by a Republican administration. It is said, upon the request of a Supreme Court Justice. He may have to go.

District Attorney Smith thinks that Ryan was overtaxed in being left to ward the jail alone. The old man says that Holt complained of a noise down the corridor that was keeping him awake, and that Holt slipped out of his cell when he (Ryan) was trying to stop the noise. The District Attorney is informed that this story is inaccurate, and that when help came in response to Ryan's outcries the old man was scared. He stammered, "The doctor has got away on me, and he's got a gun." Then Ryan went down one corridor to look for Holt—who was called "the Doctor" because he was so learned—while Hoffman went down the opposite corridor and stumbled upon the body of the suicide.

HELD ON ABDUCTION CHARGE.

Detectives Caputo and Quaine were searching Harlem's Little Italy early to-day for Caroline Barro, sixteen, of No. 230 East One Hundred and Eleventh Street, reported by her father as missing since Thursday, when they saw two men and a girl enter the doorway of a house in East One Hundred and Twelfth Street.

One detective seized the men and the other the girl. As a result of what they say, they were told by the girl five arrests were made: Gaspar Vitale, twenty-two, of No. 232 East One Hundred and Sixth Street, and Salvatore Cordorano, twenty-two, of No. 294 Second Avenue, charged with abduction; Catherine Barro, twenty-one, No. 234 East One Hundred and Seventeenth Street, charged with impairing the morals of minors; Caroline Barro, sixteen, No. 230 East One Hundred and Eleventh Street, and Anna Ballan, sixteen, No. 44 East Fourteenth Street, charged with incorrigibility.

BIG CROWD OFF FOR FAIR THROUGH CANAL ROUTE

Young Morgan and Bride Are Among the 620 Passengers on the Kroonland.

Like an old-time midsummer sailing of a transatlantic liner for Europe was the departure to-day for San Francisco, by way of the Panama Canal, of the big steamship Kroonland, formerly of the Red Star Line. Of the 320 first cabin passengers there were many who, in former years, would be bound for Europe or who would be in Europe by this time every summer, but who will take in the Pacific Coast Exposition this year instead.

The Kroonland carried 630 passengers in all. This number taxed her accommodations to the limit. Among the passengers were Junior Spencer Morgan and his bride, who was Miss Frances Conner. Mr. Herbert Batterlee and his wife, who is J. P. Morgan's sister, and their children. The fact that young Mr. Morgan and Mr. Batterlee are leaving on a seventeen-day voyage establishes that J. P. Morgan is now out of all danger from the wounds inflicted upon him by the fanatic Holt a week ago to-day.

SPANKED GIRL GONE; THREATENS SUICIDE

Writes Mother, "When You Receive This I Will Be Dead"—
Had Hospital Position.

Miss Rose Lamo, pretty and seventeen, who had been studying in the Paterson, N. J., Isolation Hospital to become a nurse, was spanked by her father Monday night after her return from the picnic of the Letter Carriers' Association of that place, to which she had gone without asking permission of her parents.

She was so mortified over the punishment that she did not go to the hospital next morning, as Wednesday, but about noon on Wednesday she left home, No. 135 Mill Street, Paterson.

Her mother received a letter from her last Thursday posted in the Hudson Terminal, Manhattan, which read:

"Dear Mother: When you receive this letter I will be dead. ROSE." Mr. and Mrs. Lamo then notified the police and search was started in Manhattan. No report had come from the police up to last night.

GERMAN REPLY FAILS TO HIT WALL STREET

Fluctuations in All Issues Very Slight, Despite Tenor of Note.

In the stock market to-day the German reply was the chief topic of discussion. While there was general comment that it was unsatisfactory, prices of securities showed small fluctuation.

Following the opening there was some increase in a number of issues, but later most of them fell back to the level of the previous day. Neither bulls nor bears, the latter having been very active in their drives recently, made any noticeable headway to-day, and, despite the long expected note, the market remained deadlocked in the Wall Street trenches.

GERMAN OFFICER QUILTS SAYVILLE WIRELESS

Capt. Zennick Claims He Sent No
Messages, Bullard Tells Daniels —Eight American Operators.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Full details of the Government's acquisition of the Sayville wireless station were received by Secretary Daniels from Capt. Bullard to-day. He had eight naval operators at work and had retained three Germans, who, however, were receiving only Bullard said. Capt. Zennick, the German marine officer concerned, whose presence about the station there was criticism, had left, it was stated. Zennick told Bullard that he never sent a message from Sayville, but confined his work to efforts to trouble the station's receiving scope. However, he said, he had expected the Government would take over the plant.

The owners, Bullard concluded, were glad the Government would operate the station, giving them the profits. They had feared it would be closed.

BOY DROWNS IN EAST RIVER.

Detectives searching Greenpoint early to-day for Albert Ortutay, six years old, of No. 70 Eagle Avenue, learned he had been drowned, early in the evening, from a pier at the foot of Duport Street. The boy's mother had reported him missing. Finally one of his playmates, Albert Minko, six, of No. 27 Franklin Street, was found and said he and the Ortutay boy were playing when the latter fell into East River and did not come up.

The Harbor Squad recovered the body early this morning after dragging the river all night.

THAW TAKES WALK ON FIFTH AVENUE; DINES IN LUXURY

Liberty From Jail in Custody of Sheriff Permitted by Court Order.

Having made his first "seeing New York" trip in nine years on Friday evening, Harry K. Thaw went on another one last night, and to-day is preparing to sail forth from Ludlow Street Jail on a third expedition.

Meantime his sanity trial before Supreme Court Justice Hendrick has been adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when attorneys for the State are expected to testify.

A promenade along Fifth Avenue was part of Thaw's sightseeing trip after the adjournment of his trial yesterday. He had been on the witness stand for four and one-half hours, and had been excused, grinning broadly, after a day that seemed to be in his favor.

Sheriff Max S. Griffenhagen grasped him by the arm as he left the court room.

"I want to go up and see my doctor about that hand of mine which was hurt playing handball," said Thaw. The Sheriff agreed, as Justice Hendrick had issued an order which permits the Sheriff to take Thaw even to a theatre if he wishes to go.

The Sheriff took Thaw uptown on the Sixth Avenue elevated to the office of Dr. Valdemar Sillio, No. 358 West Fifty-seventh Street, where his hand was bandaged.

Next Thaw and Griffenhagen strolled over to Fifty-ninth Street, to Fifth Avenue and down the avenue to Forty-third Street. There Thaw said he would like to dine and hear some music. Griffenhagen took him to the Palm Garden of the Hotel Billmore. Afterward they got into a street car and rode down to Ludlow Street Jail.

NEW YORKERS TO AID MEN BLINDED IN WAR

Miss Winifred Holt Reports There
Are 5,000 Blind Soldiers in Paris Alone.

For the purpose of rendering aid to the thousands of soldiers who have lost their eyesight in the European war, a score of prominent New Yorkers have organized the Committee for Men Blinded in Battle. Joseph H. Choate is chairman of the executive committee, Bishop David H. Green, honorary chairman; State Commissioner of Education John H. Finley, secretary; Miss D. F. Rogers, assistant secretary, and William Forbes Morgan Jr., treasurer.

That there are already over five thousand blind soldiers in Paris alone is stated in a cablegram just received from Miss Winifred Holt, who is now in Europe.

BOTTLE HELD ONLY WATER.

But Carone Had Been Held in Harlem Jail for Carrying It.

After holding James Carone, twenty-two, a driver, of No. 405 East One Hundred and Tenth Street, under $1,000 bail in the Harlem jail since Thursday, the police to-day were informed that the bottle Carone carried when arrested contained nothing but water, instead of the liquid which the police thought was gin. When they sent it to the Standard Testing Laboratory for analysis.

James Carone, an expert on the testing plant, testified before Magistrate Appleton in the Harlem Police Court that the half-ounce bottle found on Carone contained an excellent quality of Croton water, but nothing else, and that the prisoner was discharged.
